WHAT IT DOES

Perhaps the most central attack vector of cyber criminals on your business is your email. With a myriad of ways to trick and confuse you into clicking the wrong thing or replying to the wrong person, Business Email Compromise is very real and very dangerous.

Through enhanced filtering, phishing identification, automated backups, and advanced encryption, your email will become a hard target for cyber criminals to hit. Our systems and professional analysts will also be constantly monitoring for abnormal email behavior that indicate potential issues before they result in a full compromise.
